WRITING (30 scores)

"Imagination is more important than knowledge" - Albert Einstein once said. How do you think is it right? There could be so many ~~about~~ absolutely different opinions, but let me express my own one. I guess, the author meant that only creative and, maybe, a little bit crazy people can create something unusual, but useful at the same time. Imagination is their main tool.

Do I think these words are right? Of course! You know, there are so many examples around us! Just use your brain: if William Dickson didn't think about new things, which would be the most useful in the future (I mean) a photocamera and videocamera), would our world be the same as it is? I don't want to give you an answer, because it's obviously.

Also, I have my own experience: I can say I'm creative person! I like everything depends with art, music and literature. I'm good at linguistics, too. I've got so many different awards, diplomas and just gratuities. But if you want to achieve it, you need, of course, ~~work~~ to work hard, but remember something without imagination is impossible for me! I need to know a lot of information and also I need to tell about it in the audiences to people. I use my perfect imagination! Just draw some colourful pictures of this information inside my head, use "key words" with pictures too and travel ~~into~~ the trails into my brain. It's crazy for you, right? But this is my trick of using imagination.

And how about you? Let me know, what do you think about it! I hope, Albert Einstein would like my opinion, because his words were really truthful. This quotation will be in my mind for a long time, but I gave my opinion and wish it would great for everyone and everywhere!
