Good evening,
Recently I've heard about the decision making by local municipality connected with choosing a name for a new street in our town. So, I decided to take part in making this vital decision.
My offer is to name the street after an outstanding person most people love and know - Aleksandr Griboedov, a world-known writer and diplomat. I know there are many other famous personalities in our country, such as politicians, writers, poets, artists and so on. But my offer is based on realising the great strength of this person's influence on Russian's place and importance in relationships with Asian and North-African countries, Russian literature and Russian people at all. Every single citizen of Russia has heard about Griboedov since at least, because our country appreciates his role in developing of Russia in many different spheres - it's a huge value.
I suggest to name the street "Griboedovskaya" and build there some facilities: embodiment, memorial complex and houses that can mix modern urban style and the classicism style. I think our local building companies and designers will be happy to help. It's such a big deal for our small town! We all know how genius Griboedov was. So, the street "Griboedovskaya" could include a library with his name, where some lovers of him could make some events, reading his books, stories or biography facts to others out town. It could approve the weakness of knowledge about his life and personality.
There is my own offer. It can be decided in municipality, but we should make something like that in the future to make young people feel interested in classical literature. Thank you for your attention to this letter.
